Property Debris Management

DECLARED DISASTER ZONES

Evacuation notices are being lifted throughout most of the affected areas; however, there are still residences located within Declared Disaster Zones, due to the presence of safety hazards. If your residence is located within one of these zones, you will need to be escorted on the initial visit to your property. Call (833) 688-5551 for more information; this is designed to ensure your physical safety and provide emotional support. You will then be able to conduct future visits unsupervised.

ACTIVE CONSTRUCTION ZONE

In the upcoming months, many neighborhoods will be conducting debris removal and construction, which will result in heavy congestion, noise and dust. Please use caution in these areas, be alert to the people and vehicles around you, and realize that it will take patience to deal with situations that will arise as people begin to recover and rebuild. Refraining from transporting debris during school start and release times (when yellow school zone traffic lights are flashing), removing equipment prior to potentially impactful rain events, and limiting work to daylight hours are all ways you can contribute to a safer construction process.

ENCROACHMENT PERMITS

Keep roadways adjacent to your property open and clear for traffic at all times. Prior to placing equipment on County roads, you must obtain an encroachment permit by calling (805) 681-4990.

CLEAN UP PROTOCOL

Residents returning home may find that yellow or red placards have been posted by the County of Santa Barbara Building & Safety Division. Yellow placards indicate that one or more property structures may have sustained damage or been compromised. Red placards indicate that it is not safe to enter or inhabit the structure. Each property that has a placard has been assigned a case manager who will guide the resident through the process. Please see <http://countyofsb.org/asset.c/3829> for additional information regarding the placards and call (805) 568-3030 to speak with a County Building & Safety representative. Note that homes without placards can begin debris removal without a permit. When cleaning properties, please be aware of underground utilities. Always call 811 before digging.

HAZARDOUS WASTE REMOVAL

The Public Health Department's environmental health hazardous materials team is identifying and removing hazardous materials from the Declared Disaster Zones. Property owners with residences within the Disaster Zones who identify additional items or materials that may be hazardous can seek advice by calling Environmental Health Services at (805) 346-8489. White goods (e.g. washing machines, dryers, refrigerators, etc.) and electronics can be taken to the South Coast Recycling & Transfer Station.

PERSONAL PROTECTION REMOVING DEBRIS

For additional information regarding safely entering your home, and safety and protection guidelines for cleanup, go to <http://countyofsb.org/asset.c/3829>.

SOIL TESTING/CLEAN UP

Testing has been conducted on sample sites throughout the debris flow area for metals and petroleum hydrocarbons, and the results have indicated that it is not necessary to test each site prior to the removal of mud and debris. In these instances, it is okay to leave the material on-site as part of the rebuilding process. In the case where the release of hazardous materials has been confirmed and/or suspected (i.e., damaged fuel tanks, diesel or gasoline odors noted) or if the mud debris may be delivered to sensitive receptors (i.e., schools, day care facilities, elder care facilities), then sampling is encouraged. Mud and sediment may have bacterial contaminants which might not present long term environmental risks, but can be a threat to workers and residents conducting mud removal and property clean up. Therefore, appropriate personal protection equipment (PPE) is highly recommended. See http://cosb.countyofsb.org/phd/documents/comhealth/LAC/Clean\_Up\_Safely\_After\_Disaster\_\(CDC\).pdf.pdf)

DAMAGED VEHICLES

If your car is missing or you think it was towed, please call the California Highway Patrol with your vehicle's license and/or VIN at (805) 477-4174 or (805) 967-1234. If there is a vehicle that doesn't belong to you on your property and you need assistance, call (805) 681-4342.

ANIMALS

Contact Santa Barbara County Animal Services at (805) 681-5285 to remove animal remains.

PERSONAL BELONGINGS OR HUMAN REMAINS

With so much destruction, many people lost personal and meaningful belongings like photographs, jewelry, art, etc. Sadly, there are people who are also still identified as missing. If residents discover anything on their property that falls into these two categories, they should call (805) 683-2724.
